

Contains for Portable Storage

Portable storage is getting more and more popular for big moves. Why is that? Because it really is the best of both worlds: an accessible self-storage unit that can also be used to move from place to place. And the best part is that you don't have to drive the truck.

Portable Storage Units for Moving

It is very stressful to try to move and get everything packed when you need it packed. The movers have you on a tight schedule and it costs money if you are not ready. And nothing can remove all the stress from your move, you can make life a ton easier by using a portable storage unit to manage parts of this event.

See, the portable storage container is what your belongings are actually moved in. And after your portable storage container shows up, you can keep it around for a while, so there's no rush.

The weather-safe portable storage unit is then delivered to your front drive, where you can fill it as you go. This makes it easy to get any nonessential items packed up and out of the way first-- and it's a lot more convenient than having 100 boxes underfoot while you pack. On moving day, you simply lock up your portable storage with the key provided, and go to your new home. Then the unit is picked up by the portable storage company driver team. When you're all done with your unpacking, you simply call them up and have the portable storage container removed.

Are you planning a move to a temporary location? The company can store your container in a special portable storage warehouse until you're ready for delivery. See how easy this is?

Using portable storage containers for long term storage

No matter what type of move you are doing, this is often a great time to get rid of some belongings you don't need anymore. On the other hand, it's no fun to think you need to sell something just because you don't have space for it in the moving truck. And while non-portable storage units are always an option, the convenience of a portable storage unit makes it an ideal choice.

To use it for storage, simply have a portable storage container delivered to your home, and take the time you need to fill it with your unneeded (but still wanted) items. After you pack the container, they will take it to a safe and climate controlled environment until you need it delivered. Do you need access to your portable storage unit while it's stored? Call to have the unit re-delivered, or even visit it in the warehouse yourself.
